Out Size Suits For Stout Ladies

SIZES 41 1-2 to 50 1-2

A late idea recently originated by a prominent New York manufacturer, who realized that the stout lady was the victim of neglect so far as ready-made clothes were concerned. So he conceived the idea by assembling the measurements of thirty large ladies, twenty of the thirty measured run into 1-2 inch size. And it has been further demonstrated that 5-6 of the stout ladies require the half size. So here we are the first off the reel.

SUITS AND DRESSES IN HALF SIZES

Ladies Suits

41 1-2 to 50 1-2

$29.50 to $50

Man tailored, from very desirable materials in the season's best styles. If you couldn't be fitted before try again. These suits will fit you.

Ladies Dresses

RECALL OF THE UNANIMOUS JURY VERDICT ASKED

SIMPLIFIED COURT PRO-CEDURE ALSO DESIRED,
SAYS COURT JUDGE

(By Associated Press.)

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 15.—Simplified court procedure in criminal cases, abolition of the unanimous jury verdict except in capital cases, extermination of commercialized crime and drastic penalties for non-enforcement of laws were among the recommendations made to the American Prison association today by its standing committee on criminal law. The report was delivered by James P. Gregory, judge of the criminal court of Louisville, Ky. Four reforms previously recommended were again emphasized. These were:

(1) A wider discretion to courts in dealing with criminals who by reason of mental or physical deficiency should not be held to the same degree of responsibility as normal persons.

(2) Simplified pleadings in criminal cases and adoption of easy methods of amending such pleadings.

(3) Abolition of the requirement of an unanimous verdict by juries except perhaps, in capital cases and continuance of trials when one juror becomes disabled or disqualified.

(4) Legislation permitting, under reasonable restrictions, compulsory return of witnesses crossing a state line and remaining beyond the jurisdiction of a trial court.

"Your committee is strongly impressed with the growing importance of adopting more effective measures for the checking of criminalizing influences," continued the report. "Perhaps no reform in this direction would be more far-reaching than one by which commercialized crime could be exterminated. There is no influence more pernicious than tolerance of practices subversive and defiant of law, indulged in by those who find such practices profitable. Misdemeanors and crimes are not infrequently committed openly because the perpetrator can expect to pay the fine involved, and make a comfortable profit; or, by extension of a debased or debauched law-enforcing power, safely calculate on escaping the penalties announced by law.

"We conceive that there is no remedy for this evil except a radical quickening of the public conscience. No man can do his whole duty as a good neighbor or a good citizen who contents himself by merely leaving the duty of law-enforcement to public officials."

"It is often said that what we need is not more laws for reaching evil-doers, but enforcement of the laws already enacted. One more law, however, might be helpful—a law to compel the enforcement of law. With a genuine awakening of the public conscience, and such law that can, under reasonable safeguards against abuse, be invoked by the public independent of any official action, or concurrent power both to the proper officials and the public, authorizing the summoning of faithless public officials before the bar of justice to answer for their protection of criminal practices, or lack of diligence in their discovery and extermination, supported by penalties of removal from office, disfranchisement and disqualification to hold office in the future, an effective remedy would be found for the most pernicious and prolific breeding places of crime."

TESTED RECIPES.

Some of the things to remember when you are going to make salad are:

First—Have everything cold.
Second—For fruit salad, cut the fruit up and let it stand in a sieve over a bowl for an hour or more, as the juice will drain off and not thin the dressing. You can save the juice for lemonade or fruit gelatin.

Third—Never serve a heavy oily mayonnaise salad after a big dinner or a very rich lunch. These salads are better as the main course at a luncheon or to serve with sandwiches in the evening.

Fourth—Have something crisp in the salad. Green peppers, radishes, celery, cucumbers, onions, apples cut up fine, are all nice to mix with the softer meats, fruits and vegetables.

Fifth—Drain everything for a salad about the same size.

Sixth—Mix most salads with the dressing just before you are ready to serve them.—Mother's Magazine.

Baked Pear Compote.

Pare quarter, and core six pears or two pounds of fruit if of medium size. Pick these close in a casserole and pour over them a thin syrup made by cooking three quarters of a cup of water the same amount of sugar for three minutes. Cover and bake between two stones in the fireless cooker which were brought just to the sizzling point. Allow to bake for from four to six hours. If cloves are liked in the seasoning, press them into the blossom end of the pears. Serve with whipped cream. These will keep their shape, though so soft as to melt in the mouth.

Nothing is more embarrassing than to be constantly throwing off gas.

Tutt's Pills will stop it and at the same time make your breath sweet and your skin clear. At your druggist—sugar coated or plain.
